Subject: RE: Stat Report

The chain of custody does not have a request for stat testing. There is an additional charge for stat testing and the agency was not billed for stat testing. Sometimes specimens are prioritized and tested before other specimens that are already in the Lab or a testing run is scheduled for an earlier date than we normally perform testing. This is normally based on verbal requests and this happens very infrequently. I have received calls from agencies and they have asked to have a final report within seven days. We might change the date that the confirmation is performed. I did not receive any calls regarding this case. Someone else may have received a call. There was not a request for stat testing. We do not have the ability to tell you how often specimens have been prioritized.

Wasn't Officer [REDACTED] a stat request?

Steve Comstock ran a query and we did not have any stats last year.
This is good because stats are normally attached to horrific events.
